Citizen protests fail, Bay ok's R3; Waveland group blocks rezoning

By EDGAR PEREZ
Neighborhood opposition to apartment developers' requests for zoning changes sustained another setback in Bay St. Louis this week but prevailed in Waveland where an R-2 to R-3 change was denied.

The Bay Planning and Zoning Commission on Wednesday approved the request of New Orleans developers to change two-family (R-2) zoning to multi-family (R-3) on a tract of land running between Keller and Sycamore Streets in the 200 block.

Residents of that area have mounted a campaign, including a petition signed by some 27 people, urging city officials to reject the change request.

Opponents of the $1 million, 34-unit apartment complex have threatened to take the matter to the Hancock County Circuit Court if the city council also gives its approval to the zoning change at a 7 p.m. council meeting Tuesday.

The zoning commission's recommendations must have council approval before they have the effect of law. Commission chairman J. Alvin Triche Jr. told residents they will have 30 days following the council action to file an appeal with the court.

Commissioner Rosemary Ramelli, who holds a successful tax sale bid on a house near the development property, was challenged by apartment opponents as being unable to vote fairly on the matter.

She and Commissioner Sheldon Seuzneau, who had planned to vote against the development because he also owns property in the area, both abstained from voting because of possible conflicts of interest.

Voting for the zoning change were Commissioners Dan Fredericks, Wilson Webre, and Louis Fernandez, in addition to Chairman Triche who voted in this case to insure a quorum.

Triche said under present R-2 zoning, up to seven duplexes or a total of 14 units may be constructed on the property in question.

"These apartments are a better project than could be put up under present zoning," Triche said.

In addition, Triche noted the development property borders an I-2 or light industrial district.

A Webre amendment to the commission recommendation provides that developers must start construction on the project within six months of the council's final action or settlement of any court challenges. Otherwise, the property will revert to its original zoning classification.

In Waveland, however, where a group of citizens also presented a petition this week opposing a request by realtor Dix Ashman to change R-2 zoning to R-3 on a parcel of land owned by Mrs. Valerie Trellis at the corner of Terrace and Bourgeois Streets, the Planning and Zoning Commission recommended "no change."

"The commission recommends no change because of the objections received, the enclosed petition, and because the request was not made by the property owners but rather by a real estate firm," the commission stated in its recommendations to the Waveland council.

The aldermen, who also must give final approval in zoning matters, at their Wednesday night meeting, followed the commission's recommendation and rejected the zoning change, effectively blocking con-

Heitzmann to retire after 43 years service

by JAKE JACOB
Probably the best known tax assessor on Capitol Hill, Mississippi, George Heitzmann, who first entered public service in the Hancock County Courthouse in 1935, is to tender his resignation tomorrow, Monday to the supervisors.

His action comes after 43 years and two months tenure and is being taken for personal reasons.

If accepted, the resignation will be effective December 31, a factor necessitating the supervisors appointing an interim assessor until a special election can be called. This action will probably take place within 60 days. Heitzmann has two years left on his current term.

Heitzmann, a St. Stanislaus College honors student (Class of '34), first applied for a vacancy then open as deputy tax collector. Sheriff Claude Monti was in office at the time. Salary was $50 per month, county assessments stood at under $12 million, and there were about 2500 parcels of land on the books.

Today, Hancock being a Class 1 county, the tax assessor and collector makes $19,000 per year, the county has assessments in the neighborhood of $43

Teacher bond issue role classed premature

'Not a politician,'

McCullough claims

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School superintendent has denied district teachers are to be marshalled into political action squads to generate public support for proposed school capital improvement bond issues.

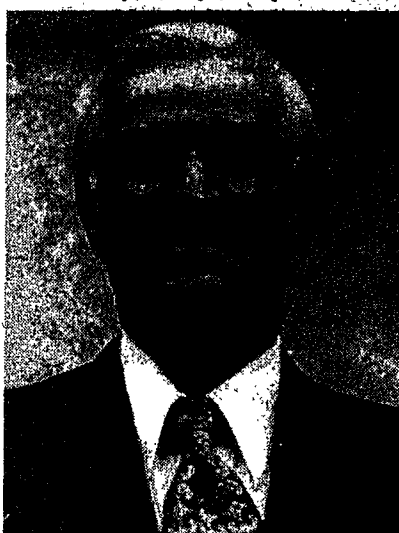

"I don't understand this 'politics' label being placed on this matter," Superintendent J. D. McCullough said at week's end following reports of teacher meetings in the district.

"I'm not involved in politics, I'm involved in trying to provide the best education possible for our kids," McCullough stated.

"Naturally, we are trying to get teachers interested in a bond issue," the superintendent said.

"But there may be a 'very few' teachers who will oppose higher taxes on any grounds," McCullough conceded when told of teacher objections to

State educators to poll public opinion imput

The Mississippi State Department of Education will be conducting an extensive survey of public opinion Nov. 28 through Dec. 7 in its continuing effort to improve communications with all segments of the community, State Superintendent C. E. Holladay announced today.

The survey will include interviews with four major groups - legislators, teachers, superintendents, and the general public.

"We are now planning for the 1978-79 school year and budget," Dr. Holladay said, "and it is our belief that community attitudes and opinions about schools are vital to this planning."

The survey, involving four separate questionnaires, will include a random probability sample of teachers (379) and public (384). All legislators (174) and superintendents (166) will be interviewed.

Letters have been mailed to citizens and teachers notifying them of their selection for the survey. If interviewers are unable to contact a primary

Assessment equalization issue court hearing set

by JAKE JACOB

Guy Blankenship, director of equalization, State Tax Commission, Jackson, is scheduled to meet with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday, during their session in the Courthouse.

Blankenship's visit has had to be postponed several times for one reason or another, a matter recorded by the supervisors and Tax Assessor George Heitzmann, in view of impending court cases filed by a group known as MATE (Mississippians Associated for Tax Equity).

Heitzmann, who with the supervisors invited Blankenship to the county, has long since called for equalization of assessments throughout the county, a move now made necessary by both previous opinions and the new court filings.

The assessor had sought to keep the county free of legal entanglements by taking steps to conduct a reassessment of the county prior to any local court hearing down a ruling in this direction.

The latest court action concerns a law suit filed in Hinds County Chancery Court on Nov. 4, for the purpose of requiring the Mississippi State Tax Commission to enforce constitutional and statutory provisions for property taxation.

The lawsuit was filed by 15 complainants, 11 individuals and four corporations. All are from Hinds, Lauderdale, Jackson, Adams, Warren, Lee, Rankin, Washington, Lowndes, Harrison, and LaFlore Counties.

Defendants cited in the suit are the three commissioners of the State Tax Commission, and chiefs of the Ad Valorem and Equalization Divisions of the State Tax Commission.

The complainants are suing "in their own behalf and in behalf of a class

Shoplifting seminar told court must see evidence

By ELLIS CUEVAS

John Montgomery, executive director, Mississippi Crime Commission, conducted a seminar on Shoplifting on Thursday in the conference room of Gulf National Bank, Bay St. Louis. The program was one of a series being conducted along the Gulf Coast in cooperation with Chambers of Commerce and law enforcement agencies.

On the program were Bay St. Louis chief of police, Douglas Williams, and City Judge Joseph Benvenuti. In attendance were Bay Policemen Larry Ladner, Alvin Favre; Waveland Chief of Police Donald Dorn, Investigator Robert Tartavouille, and City Judge Lucien Gen.

Merchants in attendance included: Alden Mauffray, Mrs. Mary Buccola and Mrs. Mary Lee Bergeron. Montgomery was introduced by Hancock County Chamber of Commerce manager Max Barnes.

A training film prepared by the Small Business Administration for managers and employees about shoplifting was shown followed by a brief talk by Montgomery.

Fire rate cut nears, Waveland buys engine

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Waveland City Council accepted the bid of Moosa Equipment Co. of Eunice, La., to construct a $50,000 pumper for the city's fire department, the latest in a series of steps to improve fire insurance ratings in the area.

Also at its Wednesday meeting, the council authorized City Clerk Barbara Rappold to advertise for bids on installation of the new fire house under construction on Gulfside Drive.

The city is moving to initiate a full-time, paid fire department Jan. 1. Waveland is currently served by a volunteer force.

The new department will include fire chief, assistant chief, lieutenant, and 24-hour dispatcher's station.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said the city hopes to reduce its current insurance rating of nine to an eight.

"Sufficient water to aid in fire fighting throughout the city..." will also bolster Waveland's fire fighting abilities when a new 1,000-foot city water well is operational, Longo said.

The new artesian well is located behind the Gulfside fire house annex. The new fire truck is to have a 1,000 gallon-per-minute capacity and is to be fully equipped.

Acting on recommendations from the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, the aldermen rejected a request to change the R-2 classification of property at the corner of Terrace and Bourgeois Streets to R-3.

Zoning recommendations approved by the council include changing R-1 to C-1 on the northeast corner of Nicholson and Old Spanish Trail; changing R-2 to C-3 on Lot 8, Block 3 in the Pine Forest Subdivision on Louisiana Street; changing R-1 to R-2 on the northeast corner of Nicholson and Ladner; and changing R-

Miss Linda Sue Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Bourgeois of Waveland, became the bride of Joseph Monroe Breland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Breland of Pearlington, Saturday, Nov. 12, in First Baptist Church, Waveland.

Dr. Wylie Heath of Dallas, Tex., performed the double ring ceremony. Fountain candelabra decorated with white roses and English ivy provided the setting for the ceremony.

Walter C. Damians, Jr., uncle of the bride, provided nuptial music and sang "I Love You Truly." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal organza gown with a fitted bodice featuring a yoke edged in pearl trimmed Venice lace. Venice lace appliques accented the lantern style sleeves and fitted cuffs and enhanced the bouffant skirt in a scalloped effect. Her elbow length veil of illusion, bordered with matching lace, was held in place by a lace caplet. She carried a nosegay of silk gardenias, lily of the valley, white and burgundy roses and ivy accented by ribbon and lace streamers.

Mrs. Jackie Wingfield, New Orleans, La., attended the bride as matron of honor, and Miss Loretta Bourgeois, Waveland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Angelle Bourgeois, Waveland, ivy and decorations in the bride's chosen colors enhance the Waveland American Legion Hall where the reception was held. The bride's table held a five-tiered cake trimmed with pink spun sugar roses topped with a miniature bouquet of white and pink roses. Arrangements of pink and white blossoms in lighted candelabra were on either side.

A bill worth passing

With the fast approaching holiday season, which is supposed to be a season of festivities and happiness, drunk drivers will ruin the meaning for many families in the state of Mississippi.

Our State Commissioner of Insurance George Dale is alarmed about Mississippi law encouraging drunk drivers on our highways.

We are the "lone ranger" on our state's present sobriety test in the United States because a person must register a .15 per cent on the sobriety test while all other states have a standard of .10 per cent or lower.

Now there is a House Bill No. 96 that has been referred to Judiciary A committee, chaired by Rep. Sonny Meredith of Greenville.

House Bill No. 96 calls for a realistic standard for determining levels of intoxication.

The new set of revised standards for measuring intoxication would be less than .07 per cent - under the influence. An alcohol level of .10 per cent or more - intoxicated or drunk. (The per centage of weight of alcohol in the blood would be based upon milligrams of alcohol per 100 cubic centimeters of blood, as shown by breath, blood or urine chemical analysis.)

The bill would make it unlawful for a person to drive while "under the influence" or while intoxicated.

The Mississippi Safety Council reports that 52 per cent of automobile deaths are caused by drunk drivers, this needed new law wouldn't eliminate all highway fatalities, but by eliminating the drunk drivers on our roads would substantially decrease the number of traffic fatalities.

We ask you to encourage your Representatives to help give this bill the push it needs to pass the next session of the Legislature, so that it will be law next year at this festive season.

Disappointing

It was very much disappointing to see such a few concerned Merchants at the seminar put on by the Mississippi Crime Commission in conjunction with the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce last Thursday.

Bay and Waveland officials were well represented, including both City judges. Merchants are always squawking about the lack of cooperation by police and judges on shoplifting cases but they can't find time to spend one hour and find out some of the problems confronting these officers and judges.

Letters to the Editor

argument increases

Dear Sir:

Last week I had the "experience" of shopping at Our Shopping Center in Waveland. During this expensive spree, my three year old daughter had to use the lavatory. As I live in Kiln, I couldn't just run home for this emergency, so I asked the lady in Shainbergs, where I'd been shopping if my child could use the rest room. She refused, so I started a hopeless search. I tried at Shoe Town and was given the same response.

Finally I went to T.G. & Y., and without asking I went to the ladies lounge. This was "pad locked," but fortunately I found the key on top of the coke machine.

When the child had finished, I locked the door, returned the key to its original place and walked out, only to find this woman viewing me as if I'd been writing on the walls. She charged into the room, so as she passed me I told her where to "store her facility."

How inconsiderate can people be? We spend thousands of dollars shopping in these stores and our children and Senior Citizens also are refused when they have to use the lavatory.

It seems to me that something should be done. I'm sure others have had this same dilemma.

If other stores can furnish a public facility, what's wrong with these stores?

As rapidly as this city is growing I think some action should be taken.

Since Christmas is now upon us, and our children will be with us, we plan to do our shopping in stores where people are more considerate and convenience stores are really convenient.

Iris Lacoste.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The policy of the Sea Coast Echo on "Letters to the Editor" is to have signatures and addresses on letters that are to be published.

We have a letter in reference to the lack of restroom facilities at Our Shopping Center but are unable to run it because of lack of address or phone number to verify the unfamiliar name and signature.

Letters must be from bonafide persons and be signed.

Thanksgiving

service changes, hours detailed

City Hall, Bay St. Louis, will remain closed Thanksgiving Day.

Garbage collection for the week will be: Monday and Tuesday, normal routine; Wednesday, pick-up garbage on the normal Wednesday route, also the Thursday run.

No pick-up will be made Thursday, and normal pick-up on Friday.

Waveland City Hall will remain closed Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Normal garbage pick-up routine will be maintained in Waveland with the exception that both Thursday's and Friday's pick-ups will be made Friday. Both Bay St. Louis and Waveland postoffices will remain closed Thursday. This includes a non-issuance to boxes.

The Welfare Department will also be closed Thanksgiving Day, and although opening again Nov. 28, no food stamps will be sold on Friday.

Shoplifting...

"More merchants should have been here this morning," Williams also talked about the importance of stores having to sign papers against shoplifters or the police cannot act.

Bay City Judge Joseph Benvenuti talked on the importance of what happens after a shoplifter has been caught but before a case goes to court. He said this period can be an important factor as to whether a conviction is obtained. He mentioned the fact, which was agreed on by all officials present, that there must be "an eye witness to the actual shoplifting for evidence. If you don't have the evidence there is nothing a judge can do but find them not guilty."

In closing remarks Montgomery said that shoplifting has reached the six billion dollar a year mark now with one out of ten people being a potential shoplifter. The Crime Commission would rather have the merchants deter shoplifters rather than by trying to prosecute. He said that the best way to deter shoplifters is by having clerks making store shoppers aware of their presence.

The store manager or clerk must say the magic words to a shoplifter after seeing them take something and conceal it, "I'm placing you under arrest for shoplifting." He then can detain the shoplifter in the store until police are summoned. Following this, the person or persons witnessing the shoplifting must sign the papers. All evidence must be kept in case of perishables, photos can be used in some instances.

City Judge Benvenuti added, "Rules of evidence in shoplifting are the same as any crime, you have to have the evidence and witnesses, and keep the evidence for the trial."

Arrangements for the same presentation at other locations can be made on request, Montgomery said, by calling 864-9885 Gulfport.

Zoning...

struction of apartments at that location.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said the Waveland council intends to act in the immediate future on an addition to zoning ordinances requiring developers successful in changing zoning to begin construction according to plan within 12 months, or zoning reverts to the original classification.

In Bay St. Louis, city officials favoring the zoning change feel the development is a step forward in healthy city growth.

The residents opposing the change are convinced the apartments will bring an increase in adjacent property taxes, traffic congestion and overcrowding to the previously tranquil neighborhood.

City officials argue the development will bolster the city's tax base, while neighbors insist city services required by the complex will more than offset any tax revenues generated.

Residents favoring the change say the ones making the most noise are city dwellers with summer homes here. Those against it hold that the area is populated with permanent residents of long standing.

Breaking zoning in this instance will "set a dangerous precedent" according to change opponents who maintain Bay St. Louis is not yet afflicted by "spot zoning."

Proponents charge the city is effectively spot zoned due to the many exceptions to the zoning ordinance allowable under the grandfather clause.

Insurance Rate...

1 to 5-1 (special usage) on city owned property at the sewerage plant and Waveland Elementary School.

The council also voted endorsement of a proposal by American Legion Post 77 to line Coleman Avenue with 50 American flags and 50 state flags.

The "Avenue of Flags" would be put up on federal, state and city holidays, under the Legion's proposal.

The Legion Post, with headquarters on Coleman Avenue, presented the proposal in a letter to Longo as one which will continue where the Bicentennial left off.

"We feel this program will be the trigger to remind our people that love of country, happiness in freedom and pride of heritage are not once-every-100 years experiences, but an every day privilege for each and every citizen of the United States of America," said the post commander, M. O. Blanchard Jr.

Purchase and erection of the flags will be a joint venture between the city and the Legion post.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting, the council:

-Approved a change in the city electrical code raising the minimum standard for household wiring from No. 14 wire to No. 12.

-Delayed endorsement of Hancock County Action Program until after a forthcoming public hearing to be held by that agency on its programs.

-Approved an agreement with Sloman Enterprises, developers of Idlewood Subdivision on U.S.-90 to substitute certificates of deposit in lieu of a performance bond on the project.

-Approved the appointment by Longo of Delmar Wilcox to the area-wide steering committee of the Railroad Relocation Authority headquartered in Gulfport.

Sewer...

proved by the council Thursday night with Burk And Associates of New Orleans.

Burk representative Charles Hill of Pearlinton told councilmen cost of the resident engineer would be some $1,500 per month during the estimated 3.5-month life of the project.

Hill told the councilmen if they did not exercise their option to hire a resident engineer, the city's interest would be protected only by a Burk engineer scheduled to spend one day per week on the job.

"Your resident engineer will be down in the trenches checking the work every day, measuring fill loads on trucks, and protecting the city's interests," Hill said, adding, "Our once-a-week man will be a patent leather shoe engineer who will check payroll records and things like that."

"You have to inspect sewer work before it is covered up," the Burk representative said.

Known officially as the Hancock County 201 Facility Plan, the Boulog project is funded 75 percent by an Economic Development Administration grant under the Local Public Works Act.

The council will accept construction bids on the project Wednesday.

Mayor Larry Bennett said population densities in the various areas of the city will be studied to determine which streets are to be involved in the next sewer improvement project.

The mayor said a Burk And Associates study completed last month shows some $3,821,834 will be required at today's prices to extend sewerage throughout the city.

Assessments...

defined as all property owners and property taxpayers of the State of Mississippi whose property is valued and assessed so that they shoulder more than their fair and equitable share of the ad valorem tax burden at county, regional, district, and state levels.

The suit alleges that defendants "...sit as a statewide board of equalization, and the final authority for the establishment and equalization of the valuation of property for ad valorem tax purposes is vested in defendants. More specifically, the defendants are charged by law with reviewing each year the works of the county tax assessors and boards of supervisors and taking such actions as are appropriate annually to assure the proper valuations of all properties for tax purposes at their true value and the equalization of the tax rolls between and among Mississippi's 82 counties."

The complainants seek court relief through:

"Mandatory injunctions and decrees as necessary to assure the State Tax Commission and all persons acting in concert with the Commission will begin immediately the process of valuing and assessing property in Mississippi in accordance with the statutes and laws of Mississippi and in conformity with the Constitution.

"Remedies prescribed by the court designed to eliminate the unconstitutional and illegal conditions found to exist, including where appropriate issuance of injunctions enjoining defendants from accepting or approving county tax rolls until such time as there has been complete reappraisal of all taxable properties in the state."

The suit further states: "However, the complainants would permit a two-year 'period of grace' for counties to take necessary corrective action to bring the ad valorem tax system into compliance with the Constitution and the statutes before restraining collection of ad valorem taxes."

J.C. Reed of Jackson is president of the MATE group, who mapped and coordinated the lawsuit, with a contributor address of P.O. Box 6603, Jackson, Ms. 39206.

Scalds can maim

Most people forget that hot liquids can cause as severe burns as flames. A culprit easy to overlook is hot water. There are estimates that as many as one-half of all Americans heat their water to unnecessarily high temperatures, not only exposing themselves and their families to potential danger but wasting energy as well.

Household tap water temperature should be maintained no higher than 130 degrees Fahrenheit (55 degrees centigrade). At 135 degrees Fahrenheit, water can produce full thickness burns after only a 10 to 15 second exposure. With a 1 degree centigrade rise in temperature, the exposure time needed to produce a severe burn is cut in half.

Many of the water burn victims are children, with about 20 per cent of all children's burns being attributed to this cause. It is not unusual for a child to be burned after inadvertently turning on the hot water tap while bathing.

Water temperature can easily be checked with an ordinary kitchen meat thermometer.

A percent study found that scalds represented 44 per cent of all burns reported and that 24 per cent of the scald injuries required hospitalization. Some common causes of scald burns are grease, coffee, tea and soup. Here again, most scald victims are children. The injuries generally occur when a child pulls something down on himself or while bathing.

Young children need close supervision around hot water or the kitchen stove. But children should also learn to be responsible for their own safety. They should be taught to test bath water before climbing in and not to fool with faucets.

Some faucets now feature an an-tiscald device that always mixes some cold water in with the hot. Modern faucets with single spouts and single water control mechanisms also help prevent scalding by mixing hot and cold water, but still allow for undiluted hot water.

Here are some other things you can do to reduce the possibility of scalds:

When cooking, keep your mind on what you're doing. Supervise older children who help prepare and serve meals. Turn pot and pan handles to the back of the range or countertop, out of reach of youngsters and out of the path of passersby. Never leave hot liquids of foods unattended and within reach of very young children.

Eliminate dangling cords. Never place hot food on the table with a long tablecloth until small children are seated and adults are in control. Do not hold a child while you are drinking hot coffee or tea.

In general, keep small children out of the way during the preparation and serving of foods. Young children underfoot can be tripping hazards.

First aid for scalds is the same as first aid for other burns. For minor burns, soak the burn in cold water. Cold water stops the destruction of tissue that can continue long after the burn is received.

For more serious scalds involving large areas of the body, wipe off the scalding liquid with a towel or other cloth wet with cold water. Also, remove soaked clothing that is not stuck to the skin. Seek medical treatment as soon as possible.

million, and there are more than 92,000 parcels of land now on the assessment rolls.

Elected for three terms as tax assessor, and two terms as assessor and collector - following a change in the law in 1971, Heitzmann's unbroken service to the county was brought about by his being rejected to serve in the U.S. Armed Forces during World War II due to the loss of an eye at 14.

During the war years however, Heitzmann served actively in the Civil Defense, wherein he is still a member, and was supervising clerk of the Selective Service Commission (SSC) for the Coastal area. To maintain his active "Courthouse" status he worked in the evenings in the Chancery Clerk's office.

His work with the SSC was recognized by President of the United States Harry S. Truman, in a letter of commendation. Citations also came from General Lewis B. Hershey, and Colonel of Field Artillery Howard C. Bowman, commanding officer, Headquarters Mississippi Military District, Eighth Army.

Previously active in Knights of Columbus, third and fourth degree, for whom he travelled extensively over 22 years, other citations received include those from the Older American Area-wide Model Program, the International Association of Assessors and Appraisers, the State Association of Tax Commissioners, the National Association of Review Assessors - wherein he is a Certified Review Appraiser, and the Mississippi Assessors and Collectors Association.

A colonel on the staff of three Mississippi Governors, including Gov. Cliff Finch, he is married to the former Margaret Dubuison. The couple, who reside in Bay St. Louis, have three children, Robert, Michael, and Marilyn, and eight grandchildren.

A former member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church Council, and a member of OLG Church "...as long as he can remember..." he is a former member of the OLG Usher Society and SSC Sidelines Club.

A member of the Hancock County Farm Bureau and State Cattlemen's Association, he was active for many years in the Hancock Gun and Rod Club.

Fireant...

Commerce by the Mississippi Legislature with the United States Department of Agriculture, matching the funds of both entities.

Upon a request for treatment from a local governing body, pledging 25 percent of the cost of application and bait, priority is given to the areas where the fire ant causes the greatest problems such as open pastures, cultivated lands, schools and residential properties, parks and roadways, industrial and commercial areas.

Individual action may also be necessary to obtain longer relief from the ants. Mop-up or mound-to-mound treatment greatly increases the control period if used to supplement aerial application.

In a given area, where an aerial program does not exist, small bags, 10 pounds and one pound in size, of bait are available for treatment in yards and home premises through the Imported Fire Ant Division of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce or your County Extension Agent. Application involves placing a small amount of bait around each mound. The required dosage is shown on the product label.

The Mississippi Legislature passed an act in 1976 creating the Mississippi Authority for the Control of Fire Ants, a division of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, which was authorized and empowered to accept from the Allied Chemical Company that manufacturing facility at Aberdeen. All funds from the plant in excess of operating cost are deposited in a special fund, the Mississippi Authority for the Control of Fire Ants, to be used in the research of alternative methods for the control of fire ants and other insects or diseases threatening the production of Mississippi agricultural products.

Accomplishments have occurred that are encouraging since the Mississippi

Department of Agriculture and Commerce took over the plant at Aberdeen.

The 1977 Legislative Session appropriated from the special fund monies paid into the state by the Mississippi Authority for the Control of Fire Ants to be used for the purpose of contracting with the Mississippi State Chemical Laboratory and the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station to aid in research.

Dr. Earl Alley, Director of Research at the Mississippi State Chemical Laboratory, has developed a new bait called Ferriamicide which appears to give good control with no harm to the environment.

Research is not limited to Ferriamicide. The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and the Agricultural Research Service of the USDA are actively screening new pesticides.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce is putting forth every effort to continue progress by locating a safe and practical means of effectively controlling the imported fire ant without undue harm to the environment.

The benefits will be available to the other eight infested states as well as Mississippi.

It is believed that data necessary for the continuance of the Imported Fire Ant Control Program will be available for presentation to EPA for a new label by June 30, 1978, the phase-out date of mirex in its present form.

Only ground or mound-to-mound application will be allowed after January 1, 1978 through June 30, 1978.

Anyone seeking additional information about the program, or wishing to obtain bait should contact Imported Fire Ant Division, Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, P.O. Box 1609, Jackson, Mississippi 39205, or call (601) 354-6352.

THE OLE

PASTOR SAYS...

WHAT IS THE UNMISTAKEABLE MARK OF A Christian? Such a mark would be the same on all continents under all suns. It would be the same among the black and white, among the learned and unlearned, among the rich and the poor. There are many marks which may identify a Christian. But what is the one outstanding identifying mark which God has stamped upon His people? It is the mark of gentleness and love. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (John 13:35). Love must serve. Love must sacrifice. Love ignores criticism. Love sits by the one who weeps, and weeps. Love stands by the one misunderstood, and understands. Love walks the long road of lonely hidden service and inspires every traveler. In a world of hate, real Christians are dominated by love.

In this age of selfishness, the real Christian goes the "second mile" and speaks words of cheer and lifts burdens that belong to others. Love suffers long and is kind. Love is the unselfish and unholly.

Love pierces the hard armor of degrading sin and brings the deluded soul to a revelation of God. It is the one unfulfilling Christian virtue, because "Love never faileth" (1 Cor. 13:8).

God has set such a mark on His people - a mark of love for others.

Does the world see God's mark, or Satan's mark as day by day it evaluates your words and deeds? In the secret sanctuary of your soul which mark do you recognize as the most prominent?

contestants must be high school graduates of 1978.

An All American Girl will be crowned from each category. In addition, a talent winner will also be chosen from each participating category.

Girls in the age group of 3-12 will compete with street length party dress, sportswear, and close-up appraisal.

All girls except the 3-6 year olds will be judged on a talent presentation. The talent, amateur or professional, may be anything which shows the girls poise before an audience: skits, pantomime, dramatics, baton twirling, musical instruments, dancing, singing, etc.

The state winners will be invited to compete at the National Pageant in August where over $5,000 in scholarships and awards will be presented.

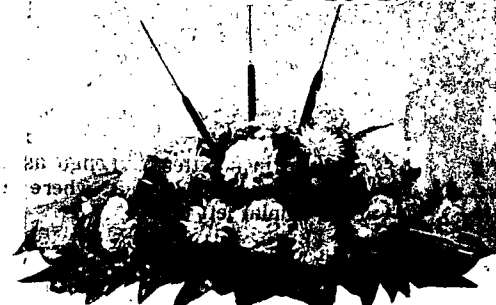

Talent winners will also be invited to participate in the National Pageant.

Further information is available at: All American Girl Pageant, P.O. Drawer 1630, Dothan, Alabama 36301, or call, 205-792-4907.

Civic Clubs, PTA's, Band Boosters, and individuals wishing to stage a county preliminary pageant are also invited to inquire.

Black businessman's records are book base

The widow of a black Starkville businessman and a Mississippi State University historian have collaborated on a book chronicling the lives of two members of Mississippi's black middle class from the late 19th century to the present.

"A Black Businessman in White Mississippi, 1886-1974" The University Press of Mississippi, 1977) recounts the lives of Robert Wier, the first black to own and operate a business in downtown Starkville, and his wife, Sadye. It is written by Mrs. Wier with John F. Marszalek, an associate professor of history and author of numerous works on black history and the Civil War.

Utilizing materials saved over the years and consulting the memories of relatives and friends, Mrs. Wier tells of her husband's life from birth to death, a period of 88 years. In the process, she describes her own experiences and outlooks, and gives insight into 20th Century black life in Mississippi.

"I hope this book will help people understand what kind of person my husband was and what his contributions to Starkville were," explained Mrs. Wier. "I hope, too, that the book makes it possible to learn something about black life in Mississippi."

In addition to owning and operating a barbershop on Main Street, Wier was a leader both in his church and the black history collection we are gathering at MSU," said Dr. Jimmy G. Shoalmire, head of Special Collections.

Grounded 8-7 following overtime

Pickle sours Hawk flight

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hawks of Hancock North Central lost a heart breaker to the Vancleave Bulldogs 8-7 in overtime Friday night in the Wiggins Pickle Bowl at Perkinson Junior College Stadium.

The Hawks missed two golden opportunities to score in the regulation game. In the second quarter, after Richard Storey blocked a Bulldog punt on the 25, the Hawks moved the ball to the one yard line where they fumbled. The fumble was recovered by Vancleave with only 14 seconds left in the first half. The Hawks missed another scoring chance when after receiving the kick-off in the second half, they drove to the Vancleave three yard line only to be set back to the 16 on some fine defensive play by the Bulldogs. On fourth down and 16, Rocky Cuevas tried a 26 yard field goal that was wide and short.

Ball handling by both teams was good through the game even though the entire contest was played in a light to heavy rain. The Hawks were able to move the ball more than the Bulldogs, racking up 11 first downs to nine.

The game was a defensive struggle with players from each team making standout plays. The defensive effort by both teams kept each team from crossing the others goal line during regulation play, with the game ending in a scoreless tie.

Late in the regular play Gene Breazeale intercepted a Bulldog pass that seemed to give the Hawks some new life. The Hawks were able to move the ball from the 42 to the 25 before Vancleave's defense shut them down.

The Hawks defense never let Vancleave get inside of the 20 for the entire regular game.

When the game ended in a tie, each team was given the ball on the 10 yard line with four tries to get into the end zone.

The Hawks won the toss and from the ten, scored in their third try when Vincent Adams went in from the three. The PAT was kicked by Rocky Cuevas with Adams holding giving the Hawks a 7-0 lead.

Vancleave's quarterback, Bubba Etherton went in from the three and then the Bulldogs carried for two points after almost being trapped at the five. This gave Vancleave the victory, 8-7. As the rain started falling harder, the Pickle Bowl committee gave trophies to the teams at mid-field. Etherton was named the bowl's most valuable player. Linebacker Tony Trash and runningback Tom Warren were Vancleave's most valuable players.

Receiving trophies for the Hawks were quarterback Vincent Adams on offense and Anthony Dubuisson on defense. The Pickle bowl trophy was awarded to team captain Dentist Nelson by James O. Rabby, President of the Wiggins Jaycees.

The Hawks broke all school records this season for finishing their regular season 10-0. The team has an opportunity on Friday to get back on the winning path having an invitation to the Jaycee Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl. Hancock North Central will be up against strong Long Beach. Pass Christian was a common opponent for the Hawks and Bearcats, the Pirates edged Long Beach by one point just like the Hawks edged the Pirates by one point.

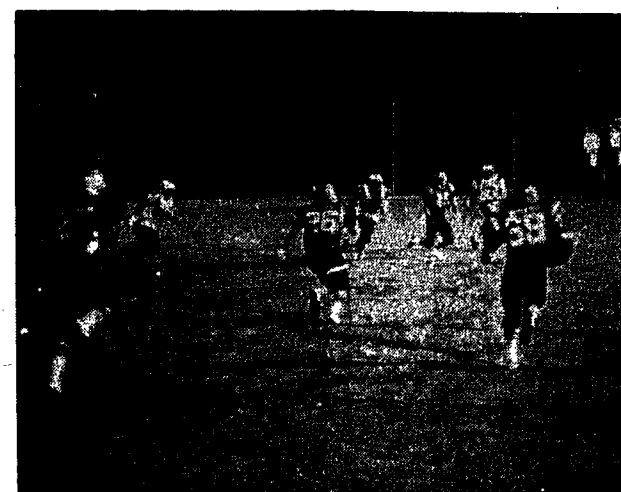

The Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl will be played in Hancock North Central stadium on Friday, Nov. 25.

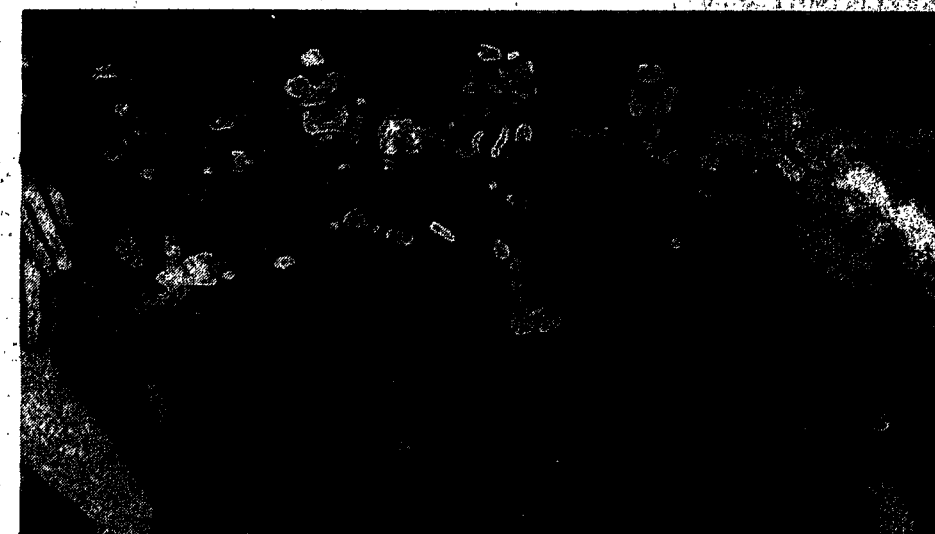

HAWKS DO IT ALL PLAYER - Quarterback Vincent Adams receives trophy for offensive back of the game for North Central from Jaycee president James O. Rabby on Friday. Adams plays defense as well as running the team on offense. He has been a standout player all season with the Hawks coming up with the school's first perfect season in history.

RUNNER-UP TROPHY - Dentist Nelson, Hancock North Central captain, receives trophy from Wiggins Jaycee president, James O. Rabby. Hawks were defeated by Vancleave, 8-7, in an overtime thriller. (Staff photo - Randy Ponder)

PASS THEFT - Gene Breazeale, No. 69, returns a pass interception with interference being given by Rocky Cuevas, No. 26 of Hancock North Central. Breazeale returned the ball about 25 yards after the Bubba Etherton of Vancleave was stolen by the Hawk. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

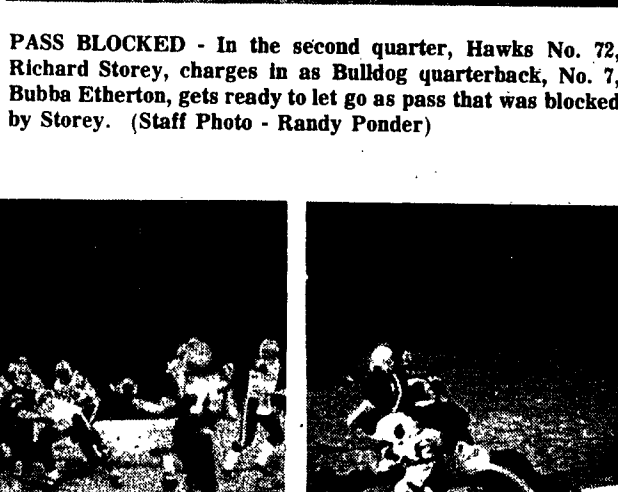

ADAMS SCORES - Quarterback Vincent Adams, No. 10, Hancock North Central Hawks, scoots in for a Hawk score in overtime in the Pickle Bowl. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

PRESSURE ON QUARTERBACK - A strong defensive rush is made by Vancleave on Hawk quarterback Vincent Adams Friday night as he attempts to pass. The Pickle Bowl regulation game ended in a scoreless tie with Vancleave winning in overtime, 8-7. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

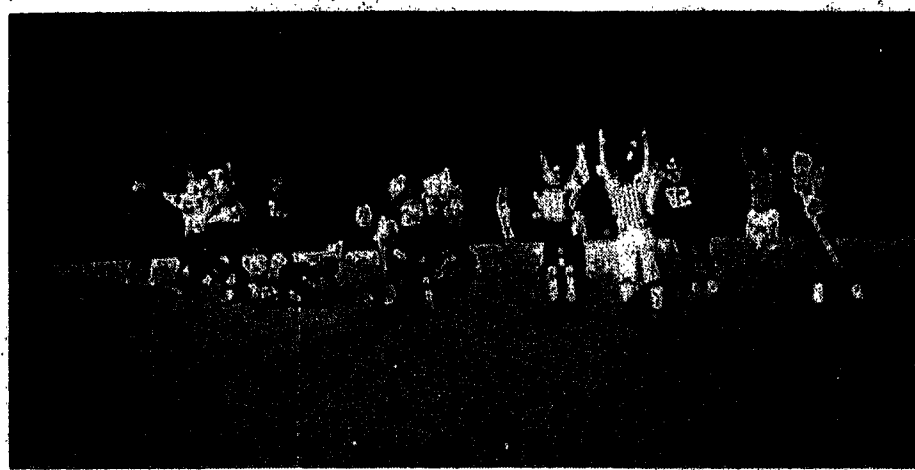

PASS BLOCKED - In the second quarter, Hawks No. 72, Richard Storey, charges in as Bulldog quarterback, No. 7, Bubba Etherton, gets ready to let go as pass that was blocked by Storey. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

HAWK PRESSURE - With a wet ball Bulldog (No. 7), quarterback Bubba Etherton's pass is almost picked off by Hawk Robert Shiyon, No. 75, as the Hawk pressure made him throw the ball in different direction than where receiver was. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

SHORT GAINER - Greg Ladner, No. 3 of Hancock North Central makes a short gain before he is tackled by a host of Vancleave players in the Pickle Bowl. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

PLAYERS HELP OFFICIALS - Vancleave's quarterback Bubba Etherton squirms in for a two point conversion and all Bulldog hands are up in the air. They had just won the Pickle Bowl in overtime. (Staff Photo - Randy Ponder)

Holiday safety stressed by consumer safety folks

Safety for the holidays is a timely message as the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) launches its 1977 Holiday Safety Program.

Between Nov. 1, 1976, and Jan. 31, 1977, 2,200 injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms were the result of accidents with holiday decorations—trees, lights and ornaments. Over half of these injuries occurred to children under 15 years of age. Children are also the most frequent victims in accidents involving toys. Therefore, CPSC recommends the following safety advice in the selection, use and maintenance of holiday decorations and toys:

TREES

If you are planning to buy a natural tree, the most important safety factor is its freshness. The higher the moisture content of the tree, the less likely it is to dry out and become a serious fire hazard.

Fill the holder with water until the cut line is covered and keep the water at this level while the tree is in use.

Set your tree up a good distance from any heat source. Dispose of the tree when the needles begin to fall off in large quantities. This is a sign that it is becoming dangerously dry.

Metal trees present no fire hazard in themselves. However, they can be the source of a serious shock hazard if electric lights are attached to the tree. Sharp metal edges may cut the cord insulation; the metal needles might touch an electrically charged component. Either way, the whole tree will become electrically charged, and anyone touching the tree and a grounded object at the same time could receive a severe shock.

The only way to illuminate a metal tree safely is to use colored floodlights placed in different areas of the room. Since the floodlights can become quite hot, they should be positioned where children can't come in contact with them. If you purchase a plastic tree, it should be made of fire-resistant material. This does not mean that the tree will not catch fire easily. As with natural trees, keep away from heat sources.

LIGHTING

Check your tree lights and outdoor lights each year before you use them. Look for frayed wires, loose connections, broken or cracked sockets and spots where bare wire is exposed. Any set that is damaged, should be thrown out or repaired. Careful handling of these products during unpacking, decorating and repacking will lessen the chance of hazardous damage.

All lights should be fastened securely to the tree. No light bulbs should come into direct contact with the needles or branches. Curtains and other flammable materials should be kept away from bulbs.

Don't overload extension cords. Don't put more than three sets of lights on any extension cord. Keep the connection joints away from the water supply of a live tree.

Any outdoor lights should be weatherproof and clearly identified as designed for outdoor use. Don't try to use indoor lights for outdoor lighting. Remove outdoor lighting as soon as the season is over; even these lights are not designed to withstand prolonged exposure to the elements.

When you leave the house or retire for the evening, be sure that all lights are turned off by unplugging them from the wall outlet.

Always disconnect any electrical appliance by grasping the plug, not by pulling the cord.

Finally, though it may provide a sense of nostalgia, never use any wax candles on or near a tree. This is a very serious fire hazard. Any decorative candles should always be kept well away from children and any flammable material.

TREE ORNAMENTS AND TRIMMINGS

Avoid placing breakable ornaments or ornaments with small detachable parts on lower branches where small children or pets can reach them and knock them off.

Trimnings used on trees or around the home should be non-combustible or flame-resistant. An often recognized hazard exists in the combined use of spun glass "angel hair" and spray-on artificial snow, which present little fire hazard if used separately. When the snow is sprayed on angel hair, the dried combination can burn rapidly if accidentally ignited.

Some traditional holiday decorations may be harmful if eaten and this poses a hazard for young children. Mistletoe and holly berries may be poisonous if more than a few are swallowed, and these plants should be kept out of the reach of children.

Fire salts, which produce a multi-colored effect when thrown on a wood fire, contain heavy metals. Eating them can cause gastrointestinal problems and vomiting.

If your child consumes any of these possibly hazardous substances, call your physician or Poison Control Center immediately.

FIREPLACES

Fireplaces are particularly popular during the holidays. Before starting a fire, remove all decorations from the area and be sure the flue is open.

Keep a screen in front of the fireplace any time a fire is burning.

Never use the fireplace as an incinerator. Do not burn wrappings or evergreen boughs there. These can burn suddenly, and rapidly, throwing off sparks and burning debris. Dispose of wrapping paper immediately.

TOYS

Buy toys that suit the skills and abilities of the child. Avoid toys that are too complex for young children.

Look for labels that give age recommendations or safety information, such as "Not Recommended for Children Under Three" or "Non-Toxic" on toys likely to end up in little mouths.

Watch out for toys that have sharp edges, small parts, or sharp points. Avoid toys that produce extremely loud noises that can damage hearing and propelled objects that can injure eyes.

Explain to the child how to use toys properly and safely. Always try to supervise young children while they play. Insist that children put their toys away so they do not get broken and so that no one else trips or falls on them.

Examine toys periodically. Repair broken toys and discard toys that cannot be fixed.

A free package of safety information on these topics is available by writing Holiday Safety, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207 or by calling the Commission's toll-free HOTLINE at 800-638-2666.

Poll...

respondent, they will go to an alternate listing which was also selected by random sample. The alternates have not been notified of their selection.

Dr. Holladay urged residents to respond to the interviewers. "Whether you have children in school or not, whether you have lived here 30 years or one year, we want your opinion. It is vital to helping us do the job the public wants in educating the children of Mississippi."

The surveys include the rating of schools, personnel, and selected curriculum areas, a look at accountability, key legislative proposals, what the public knows, identification of strengths and weaknesses, influences on education of children, community involvement in the schools, and a look at the State Department of Education.

The public—adults age 18 and over—were scientifically selected at random from a complete listing of residential telephones. Every household in Mississippi with a listed residential telephone number had an equal chance of being selected. Only one person per household will be interviewed and the selection of that person will be by a "respondent selection key" which provides random distribution of male and female, and age of respondents.

Interviews will be conducted by telephone during the late afternoon and evening hours. Interviewers will be secretaries in the State Department of Education. The questionnaires were developed by a committee of educators headed up by assistant state superintendent W. S. Griffin. The survey effort is being directed by Van H. Savell of Titusville, Fla., a communications consultant specializing in educational opinion research.

Bond Issue...

working in support of a bond issue.

"I don't understand the objections now since we are just in the talking stage of this proposal," he continued.

"A successful school bond issue takes six, eight, maybe 12 months of hard work, and we are in such an early stage on this one we don't know what shape it will take," the superintendent explained.

"However, we are getting more and more concerned about classroom shortages...we have to get started now to meet this problem which is going to get worse in the next few years," he elaborated.

At a district school board meeting last week—where several teachers appeared to complain about overcrowded classes and classroom shortages—the board authorized McCullough to contact the State Educational Services Department for assistance in analyzing capital improvement needs.

McCullough said capital improvements already approved by the board, including new Junior High cafeteria and classroom renovations at the Junior High and North Bay Elementary, are to be financed through short term notes.

Financing for those three top-priority projects is currently awaiting approval from the City Council and the Education Finance Commission, the agency which administers state aid for school improvements.

McCullough said it is still too early to tell if current school revenues would be adequate to retire a new bond issue.

Other alternatives would be an additional millage assessment or tax hike, or an adjustment in the apportionment of the current millage to give schools a greater share than now allocated.

CAREER TIPS:

Career opportunities in the apparel industry look favorable for production managers and engineers, according to Dr. Jean K. Jones, coordinator of career services at The University of Mississippi. The industry has job opportunities for people with a wide variety of skills and interests, including designers, marketing specialists, wholesalers, manufacturers' representatives, buyers, retail salesworkers, production managers and engineers, pattern makers, cutters, seamstresses and other production workers. "In the areas of design, engineering and marketing, a college degree or specialized training is necessary," Dr. Jones said. The best opportunities in apparel marketing appear to be in the wholesale area, she said, while designers will face keen competition and new labor-saving devices will somewhat slow the growth rate of employment in the industry.

Rocky Hill Rambler gets news first hand...

... and drops in ditch!!!

The Rocky Hill Rambler
by 'Gweny' 255-7550

Hi Everyone - With the holidays almost here we aren't going to have anymore bad news from the hills. So we're taking this space to ask my readers to please call me with all their good news and blessings so we can share them with everybody.

Our big news this week comes from Hancock North Central School Cafeteria. We spoke to Mrs. Dorothy Dedaux and Sara Shiyou (Manager), they told all about the local M.S.F.S.A. Convention in Jackson. Those representing Rocky Hill were: Louise Hoda, Beatrice Ladner, Helen Necaise, Marie Odom, Myra Peterson, Sara Shiyou and Dorothy Dedaux.

Mrs. Shiyou told us one of the main subjects discussed was the metric system. They also had classes held for the ladies. They were told in 10 years all measurement will be converted over to metrics. Our Rocky Hill people are all ready changing over.

The opinion we get from the ladies was positive, although they have to learn over again how to measure, they all say they can and will make the change.

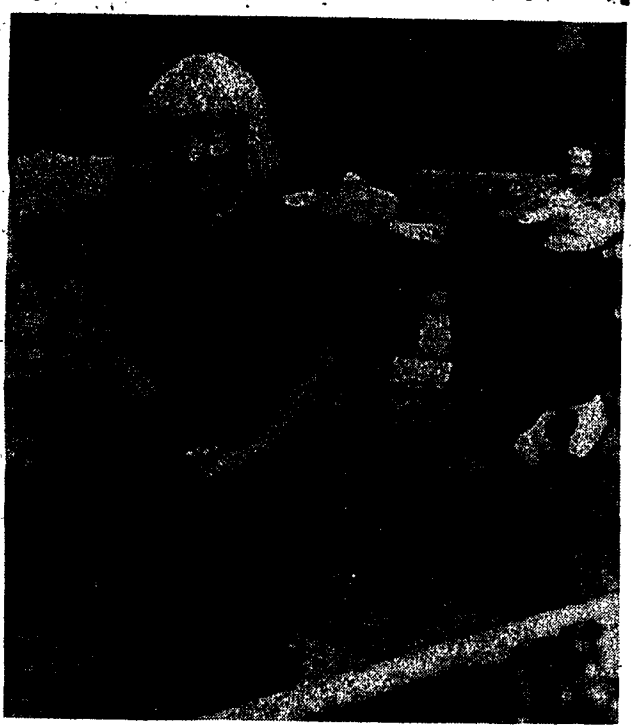

Door prizes were won by Louis Hoda, Marie Odom, and Dorothy Dedaux. All the ladies agreed they benefited by going to the convention and all had a good time.

According to David Ward it looks like our Jr. High Boys and Girls and Varsity Boys and Girls are off to a good basketball season. We won three games since last week. Next week David will be bringing us the scores. Thanks, David.

Mrs. Louvela Brogdon's house guests Mr. and Mrs. Milton Moran from LaRose, La., said they enjoyed their visit to the hills.

Vernon Cuevas hosted a party for Betty and Wilfred Moran of Delisle. It was held at our VFW. Garland Moran and his Night Travelers provided the music. Vernon told us everyone had a good time.

There isn't anything unusual about Thanksgiving, but our father-in-law is something else. For those new to the community his name is Emilio Henley. He gave us four pairs of Ring Necked Doves and a pair of beautiful white doves as a Thanksgiving gift. Anyone passing through our hills are welcome to see them. Sometimes when we go rambling we take a pair of the white ones for the ride. They love riding with us.

Everyone at one time or another had had dreams of doing something other than what they are doing. Rocky Hill people are no different. We were talking to a couple of truckers the other day named Billy Wayne Ladner and Dale Sauder. They told us between both of them they have traveled 100,000 miles North, South, East and West of Rocky Hill, but their big ambition is to take a trip to the moon. Good Luck, Boys. All we want is the story and a few pictures, when ya'll get there.

Ya'll were running late, and haven't even bought our turkey yet. Doubt if we'll get to the races, but we know we're going to church Sunday. Have a happy Thanksgiving. See you in church. gweny

Watermelon stats given

WATERMELON ACREAGE, PRODUCTION AND VALUE Mississippi

The 1977 watermelon acreage planted was 14,000 acres. This is the same as the 1976 figure. The 1977 watermelon acreage harvested was 12,000 acres, up 5 percent from the 1976 crop of 11,400 acres. Cool spring weather and a dry summer caused some abandonment. The 1977 watermelon production was 99,400,000 pounds for a yield of 8,270 pounds per acre. This is 12 percent less than the 1976 production of 91,200,000 pounds with a yield of 8,000 pounds per acre. The value of the 1977 watermelon crop was 2,010,000 dollars as compared to 2,652,000 dollars in 1976. United States Production of 10.7 million cwt. is estimated for the summer quarter watermelon crop, 7 percent below last year. Harvested area is placed at 109,500 acres, 17 percent less than 1976. Yield per acre this quarter was 98 cwt. compared with 88 cwt. in 1976 for major States.

In Alabama some watermelon fields were abandoned as the result of summer drought. Rains during August improved conditions for remaining fields and yields were better than earlier expected.

In Mississippi a late freeze and a severe shortage of rain in some areas reduced production.

MISSISSIPPI FARMERS TO RECEIVE SURVEY QUESTIONNAIRES

A sample of Mississippi farmers will receive a questionnaire during the last week of November pertaining to their 1977 crop acreage and production. Dick Knight, Statistician in Charge of the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, said the survey will be conducted to gather information concerning the acreage and production of crops grown in 1977. Over 7,500 Mississippi farmers will be asked to complete these questionnaires. Since crop production accounted for nearly 59 percent of the State's cash farm income in 1976, it is important that the results be as accurate as possible. Because of this, Knight stressed the need for farmers who receive the questionnaires to fill them out and return them promptly.

State Statisticians use the findings from this survey and data supplied by other farmers from the December Enumerative survey to be conducted the last week of November to determine County, State and National estimates. All information on individual farms is kept confidential.

A report on the survey will be published at 3:00 p.m., Jan. 16, 1978.

MANAGE FOR MORE GRAZING

Good management practices are essential in getting the most from winter grazing crops. Allow wheat and ryegrass pastures to get at least eight inches tall before you begin grazing. Remove animals when the grass has been grazed to three inches. Continuous grazing below three inches results in damaged and thinned grass stands, which also means slow plant regrowth.

Weather trend warm, late harvest likely

The mid-November to mid-December weather outlook indicates that Mississippi farmers will enjoy near normal temperatures and below normal rainfall, according to the National Weather Service report distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Normal rainfall is between four and five inches in most of Mississippi, but predicted weather patterns should produce lesser amounts, say the weather experts.

Daily high temperatures are expected to range from an average in the low 60s in north Mississippi to near 70 in the south during mid-November, cooling by about eight degrees by mid-December. Low temperatures should start out averaging in the low 40s and cool to the mid-and upper-30s by the middle of December.

Better than usual late fall harvesting weather is anticipated. Fields will be drier than normal, allowing harvesters more time in fields. Cotton and bean harvests will probably be completed early, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville who prepare the agricultural weather forecasts. Drier weather will also permit Mississippi farmers to finish fall plowing and stalk shredding early.

Small grain crops and ryegrass pastures should be planted at the first opportunity to prevent crops from being seriously delayed by possible extended dry spells and cold temperatures. Mississippi poultrymen can expect typical late fall problems with cool nighttime temperatures. Managers will need to keep up with weather developments to minimize problems with cold stress. Conditions often change rapidly this time of year, say the experts. Fuel usage is expected to be near normal.

PECAN TREE CARE

Giving your pecan trees care now may improve next year's production. One of the best and simplest things you can do for pecan trees is to clean up the orchard after completing harvest. Insects and diseases can overwinter in leaves, limbs and twigs. Collecting and burning this debris now will provide some control of disease and insect pests that attack pecan trees in the spring.

FIREWOOD

Fireplaces are increasing in popularity and many homeowners are buying firewood for the cold weather ahead. When selecting firewood, get the heavier hardwoods. Hickory, white oak, red oak and maple are long-burning and usually make the best firewood. Softwoods, such as pine, ignite easily and burn vigorously, but the wood is soon consumed.

Wood dryness is also important. Dry wood generally produces about 20 percent more heat than the same type of green wood.

SOIL TEST

AND LIME NOW Fall is the ideal time to spread lime on row crop land. We are fast losing the battle in Mississippi to acid soil. Agricultural chemical dealers and farmers must set a high priority on getting lime spread on every acre needing lime or farmers will continue to lose millions of dollars because of lack of lime. The only sure way to know how much lime to apply is to take a soil sample from your fields. You should do this as soon as possible so you can spread your lime early.

The state lime plant located at Waynesboro is now open and can supply one thousand tons of lime per day. Other state plants are located at Macon and near West Point. Prices of limestone at the state plants is $2.25 per ton.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEEK ENDING: NOV. 12, 1977

RELEASED: NOV. 14, 1977

WEATHER SUMMARY:

Temperatures for the week were above normal for the entire state, averaging 3 degrees higher than usual in the south, and 6 degrees higher in the north. Rain fell on an average of 3 days during the period, with rainfall amounts generally between one and 3 inches in the central and southern sections, and one-third to one inch in the north. The highest temperature for the week was 81 degrees at Yazoo City on the 8th, while the coldest was 24 at both Oxford and Tupelo on the 11th. 2.43 inches of rain fell at Forest on the 5th. Fair weather prevailed over the state over the weekend, as no rain fell anywhere in the area.

CROP SUMMARY: As in the past weeks rain delayed harvesting activities again this week. The cold, clear weather over the weekend should allow farmers to get back into their fields the first of the week.

Soil moisture supplies were surplus to adequate. An average of 2.9 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 2.8 days last week and 4.6 days for the same week last year.

The soybean acreage was 70 percent harvested, behind last year when 80 percent had been harvested but ahead of the average of 64 percent harvested. Corn was 93 percent harvested compared to 91 percent last year and 85 percent for the average. Sorghums were 95 percent harvested compared to 93 percent for the average. Pecans were 59 percent harvested, well ahead of last year when 41 percent had been harvested which is average for the date.

Winter wheat was 80 percent planted, average for the date, but behind last year when 91 percent had been planted. The crop was in good condition. The oats acreage was 85 percent planted, behind last year and average when 93 and 87 percent had been planted respectively. The acreage was in good condition. Pastures and livestock were in good to fair condition.

COMMENTS

WARREN CO. "Farmers are trying to finish up harvesting cotton and soybeans. Some early planted winter grazing crops are being grazed some now. Rains have slowed down some harvesting."

HANCOCK CO. "Soybean harvesting has been slowed down due to heavy rains, field are too wet. Winter grazing crops are looking good. Farmers need about two weeks of good sunshine to finish up most harvesting."

FORREST CO. "High levels of alfalfa in practically all samples being returned from State Chemical Lab."

HINDS CO. "Wet weather has caused a slowdown in harvesting. Perhaps the cold front will bring some cool, dry weather."

Home Economist's Notes

Thanksgiving is a very happy holiday that too often is overshadowed by Christmas. Take time out and celebrate this day for it is unique and important to our country. Let us, like our forefathers, give thanks to God for what he has given us.

Most Southerners like cornbread stuffing. However, very few Cook Books include this important recipe. Here is a favorite and I do recommend it to you.

DOWN SOUTH STUFFING
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup minced green pepper
¼ cup minced green onion
½ cup minced celery

1 chicken bouillon cube
5 cups day old white bread crumbs
5 cups crumbled cornbread
½ lb. fresh pork sausage links, cut up
¼ teaspoon salt

THE QUICKSAND PERIL
Of the countryside peril, quicksand has earned a reputation spurred on by an instinctive terror of the unknown when in fact it is far less a threat to human life than an encounter with a snake or many of the common stinging wasps.
Dramatizations on television or in movies have created the illusion that quicksand is a macabre villain of the swamps - a deceiving pitfall that relentlessly sucks its victims into the bowels of the earth - unless some companion extracts them in the nick of time from the grip that draws them to suffocation or drowning.
Mississippi has at least her share of wet boggy places that create quicksand conditions, and it would behoove all who venture into the swamps and streams to understand what quicksand is and how to deal with it in case they are caught by this phenomenon.

Quicksand is not a special substance, but is regular sand affected by a rising source of water from underground which makes it unstable as far as capacity to bear weight is concerned. And yes, the victim that unwarily steps into a quicksand condition will immediately begin sinking - but not sucked down.
Aside from its frightening nature, quicksand should be no more dangerous to life than water - and you deal with it much the same way. If the bog is supplied by a generous upflow of underground water you may sink immediately to your knees, hips or waist - and the harder you fight or struggle in an upright position the faster you may sink. But you will stop - before your head goes under - because you are lighter than water or watery sand, and you can slowly work your way out 'swimming fashion' without any help from anyone. So that should take the terror out of such an event.

Still, it is a slow, laborious process to extricate yourself. The less you struggle against it the better. And the sooner you lay out your body in a swimming position, the sooner you will be back on solid ground - honest!
The quicksand phenomenon has been recreated and studied in the lab by Professor L. J. Meduna at the University of Illinois who reports that quicksand is made by the direction, force and volume of waterflow through sand. Downward flow compacts sand into a highly competent weight bearing condition, but upward flow apparently interferes with the stacking of the silica particles so they will not bear weight.
Though we know what quicksand is and how to extricate oneself from it, still the fact remains that quicksand is an awesome thing indeed and it partially deserves its fearful reputation by some of the things it has done.
Just before the turn of this century a freight train plunged into Kiowa Creek about 30 miles east of Denver as a result of a flash flood washout. When the waters returned to normal the railroad pulled their freight cars out one by one - all except the locomotive. It was never found although workers probed 50 feet below the surface.
During the Civil War, a historian reports, 20 men were lost in quicksand while Union soldiers were building a canal during the Island No. 10 campaign. Even in recent years a helicopter operated by the New York City police department has rescued at least four persons from quicksand off Howard Beach in Jamaica Bay. One victim had sunk to his neck.
Skeptics to the findings of science who insist on the sucking action of quicksand may find comfort in the fact that a small degree of suction is created in the pumping action of the panicky victim's legs. The fact remains that if he will quit, it will too!

Quicksand can be a harrowing experience for anyone and possibly fatal if proper precautions are not taken. Yet the fact remains that if anyone has died in quicksand in recent years, not record of the case has been reported or discovered.

ASCS claims farm act details being held up

Due to the number and complexity of changes in farm programs triggered by the new farm act, some of the details of the new programs will not be available as soon as we and area farmers would like, B.L. Dossett and James O. Ladner have announced.
"But, we do expect to be making an announcement concerning proposed farm program rules very soon," they added.

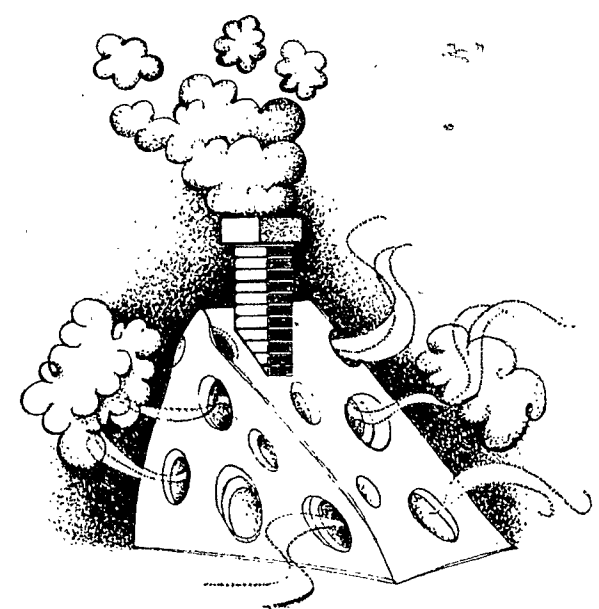

"normal crop acreage," a term farmers will be hearing a lot," Ladner said.
County and State ASC Committee members are very much a part of the process being used to determine program rules on normal crop acreage. This is one reason it's important that farmers report their 1977 crop acreage to the ASCS Office, if they have not already done so.

Dossett and Ladner are chairman of the Pearl River and Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees, charged with administering federal farm programs.
Farmers are quite naturally interested in getting program details resulting from the new farm act as soon as possible, because some of the changes will also affect some crops planted and harvested in 1977, in addition to the crops covered during the four-year life of the new law, Ladner said.

"While the details of the 1978 Agricultural Conservation Program have just been announced, practices in addition to the wide range of national practices may also be developed at the local level to meet specific pollution or conservation problems.
"This is another indication that farm programs will be based more on local situation and on solving local problems," Ladner explained.
He said that economic and environmental impacts of the new farm program rules must also be determined as a part of the process of making the rules. The local input and public scrutiny may tend to slow the process of getting out final rules and regulations, but will help assure ASCS and the farmers it serves of having solid, meaningful programs for American agriculture.

He said the ASCS office is currently gearing up to make wheat deficiency payments, generally increased by 43 cents per bushel for 1977 crop wheat by a provision of the new law.
"The process can only work just so fast with so many changes, and we hope farmers will be patient with us for the short time it will take from the signing of the law until the new regulations are developed.
"The law has some new wrinkles to be ironed out.
"For example, the law requires us to establish the 1977 acreage on each farm which is normally used for the production of crops, or

NUTRITION KNOWLEDGE
A study of the diets of some 2,000 college students in 25 states indicates that knowledge of good nutrition does not necessarily result in wholesome eating habits. The study was conducted by The University of Mississippi and the national home economics honorary, Kappa Omicron Phi. Nutrition knowledge and eating habits of the three groups were compared in the study, according to Dr. Patsy Alexander of the Ole Miss home economics faculty.
